I know you climb a mountain just because it's there. I suppose one is able to also apply that illogical and assinine reasoning to the continuing rash of assaults on Lake Ontario and every other stretch of water.

One girl makes it, and the well deserved plaudits were hers. A fourteen year old tried and ended up in a state of utter confusion and exhaustion. Another tried to swim The Lake, BOTH WAYS, and had to be pulled from the water unconscious. This is sport?

It's about time something was done to prevent these sensationalism-seeking efforts before a fatality or life time injury is suffered.

Now, excuse me while I rush off and dog paddle across my "john"!

What's my opinion of Evel Knievel and his aborted attempt to fly across Snake River Canyon? I thought you'd never ask!

I was asked a similar question a couple of weeks ago BEFORE the jump and replied that "he'd probably parachute down about half way... pick up his six million plus and head for home." I see no reason to change my thinking now that it is over.

I think I can best sum it up by quoting a prostitute speaking to a fellow lady of the night, quote - "I think we've been had!"

A young lad recently hung himself in the Don Jail in Toronto.... If memory serves correct, this is the third in recent months.

It would seem to me that some sort of preventive measures should be taken to ensure the safety of anyone incarcerated, perhaps for the first time, perhaps with a mind that may be warped due to drugs, alcohol..whatever.

We are not all responsible for our actions, particularly in our first few days in lockup. We NEED someone to look after us, whether we deserve to be locked up or not.

As a belated comment to part one of this page, a teen ager has been lost trying to get across that same Lake Ontario.

My belated comment? No comment!

THE CRYING CORNER

Good grief! The Senate has had an attack of insanity.

I had a write up all set to roll pertaining to the pass system, until I read in the paper the recommendations for the new parole system. I am of the impression that it is much more important that I "strike" on this one while the iron is hot!

I wonder if they took into consideration the fact that our jails are heavily populated with recidivists. The bulk of these people are here for crimes against property, not life!

In no way can I see cashing a cheque and receiving for this crime ten years solid in jail and then a life time parole. That is the same amount of time I would get if I was to shoot down any number of citizens in cold blood!

Many people never think of using violence - but if a law such as this is passed a great many will not only steal again, but will be armed in the process. Many of us would rather hold court in the street than rot away for the rest of our lives behind bars.

I would say that at least fifty per cent of your repeaters will not quit stealing - they will simply quit stealing with a pen or a key and start stealing with a gun. This kind of law, the "lock 'em up and throw away the key kind" only reflects your failures to provide a half way decent plan of rehabilitation. If a law like this one comes into effect, I seriously believe the gas chambers are next!

If in some way you can show me one thread of justice to be gained by locking a man away for ten solid years, to be followed by a life time parole for no more than stealing money, then it is quite obvious that you put the almighty dollar before a man's life. To put a law like this into effect would be a travesty of justice, a joke for the rest of the world to laugh at. I am afraid a law like this would bring about the worst violence seen since World War '11, both in and out of jail.

Let's hope they take another look at this recommendation- and then proceed to file it under "G" - for garbage!

The big North Gate swung wide open on Labor Day to allow four teams from the Church Athletic League to come in and entertain us - and, entertain they did. What a great bunch of little guys they were.

The morning game saw two teams from the Pee Wee Division square off in a six inning game.

Led by fire-balling Ronnie Shannon who struck out no less than twelve would-be hitters, Pentecostal #1 defeated Pentecostal #2 by a score of 12 to 5

Despite the fairly large score, we were treated to better than average ball from these youngsters

*****

No less than 14 errors proved the downfall of the Bantam All Stars in the afternoon as they absorbed a one-sided loss at the hands of the Pentecosts. A final score of 13 to 1 pretty well told the entire story.

*****

The scores in both these games has to be academic. The kids had fun, they played their hearts out for us. We, in return, thoroughly enjoyed it. Is anything more necessary?

I am not sure who was responsible for making the arrangements for these games so I am going to cover the entire thing with one big THANKS to everyone.

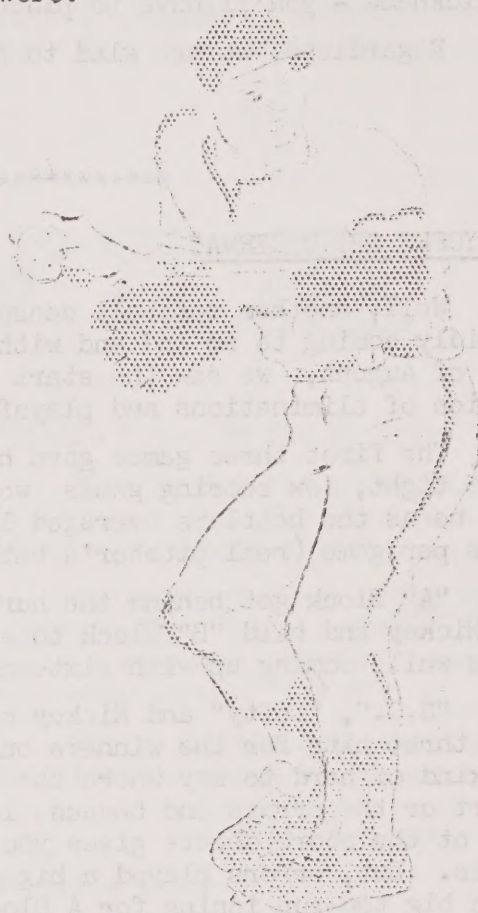

oooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo

The name "Bubs" Van Hoozer has been a name to conjure with in the Fast-ball leagues around Kingston for quite some time. Our All Stars recently had occasion to find out why.

Led by "Bubs", the K.P. Shacklers (man, you really know how to hurt) came in - thoroughly conquered our local heroes to the tune of 14 to 0, then left!

In all fairness, let it be said that the All Stars have played only two games this year - and have had about the same number of practices. Besides, it is never a crime to get beat by pitching of that calibre

NOTE

Hopefully, our Sports column will become a monthly feature as it is now in the capable hands of old buddy, "Alky"! Don't ask me where he gets such a nickname - you'll have to place your own conetation on it.

Regardless, we are glad to have him around.

PLAYOFFS GET UNDERWAY

Well, another softball season is rapidly coming to an end and with the end of August, we saw the start of a series of eliminations and playoffs.

The first three games gave hints that tight, low scoring games would not be as the battlers averaged 19.33 runs per game (real pitcher's battles)

"A" Block got behind the hurling of Mickey and held "B" Block to seven runs while coming up with sixteen.

"S.O.", "Lefty" and Mickey each had three hits for the winners but it is kind of hard to say where the hits start or the errors end because looking at the score sheets gives you no clues. But, errors played a big part in a big ten-run inning for A Block.

"A" Block	16

Winning pitcher - Mickey

*****

"E" Uppers and "F" Block tangled in the closest game so far with "F" coming out on the long end of a 9-5 score.

Mike H. used his moustache ball to great advantage and gave up a mere eight hits, well spaced.

"F" Block could only manage to come up with 12 hits, but three were by their second baseman - two singles and a double. Once again, it was a big inning (eight runs in the fourth) that made the difference.

In the last game played before this writing, "E" Block dropped "G" Block by a lop sided score of 15 to 6.

In this game, two big innings proved too much for "G" Block as E pushed across seven runs in both the second and fourth.

"E" Block	15

The semi final pairings are up in the air at this time but I have it on good authority that it will be "E" Block tangling with "A" Block and "F" Block locking hors with the regular season's leader, "H" Block.

Things have changed a lot and team rosters have undergone drastic changes due to transfers. With some of the better ball players being on these transfer lists, it should be an interesting series of playoffs before a champ is declared.

*****

At this point in time, it would be a good idea to hold two minute's silence for our "Old Timers" following their challenge to the All Stars.

The final score was something in the neighbourhood of 24 - 4, followed by moans and groans caused by aching bones and little used muscles.

At last report, our Editor was looking for someplace to have a coronary!

TV

As a special feature this month, I would like to welcome that esteemed Editor of TV Guide, Miss Judith Crist. I would like to, that is.

However, as Miss Crist has too many brains to get involved with a cockemamey operation such as I am trying to run, I'll have to do it myself!

TRIVIA

THE NEW SHOWS" HARRY O "

After a long run as The Fugitive followed by a complete failure with O'Hara, David Janssen tries again.

An ex-cop with a bullet wound in his back, and now a private eye, Janssen, one of the better actors in the business, lives in a beach house and takes on the cases left over.

If his writers can give him something to work with, this could be one of the best.

*****

" GET CHRISTIE LOVE "

Teresa Graves has come a long way from her Laugh In days. Perhaps it would have been a good idea if she had stopped before she met the writers of this show.

Filled with empty inuendos and a million and one cliches, Teresa gets left with her beautiful face hanging out time after time. It takes more of her acting ability, not phoney looking Kung Fu scenes to keep a girl like her "with it".

If Christie Love manages to hang on to option time, they can consider it a long run.

"Little House On The Prairie"

Mike Landon has moved his muscular little body from The Ponderosa and put it in a Minnesota setting.

A direct steal from The Waltons or Apples's Way, "Little House" doesn't hit me as a winner - and that sounds odd to be coming from a "loser".

Sorry, Little Joe, that Minnesota territory is going to do you in!

*****

" Police Woman "

This program would have to get my vote just because of Angie Dickinson!

A spin off from Police Story this has to be the "sleeper" of the year- IF the scripts and settings retain as much authenticity as the parent show did.

Take my word for it (would I lie to you?) Police Woman is a cinch.

*****

" Lucas Tanner "

David Hartman has to be one of the better actors on TV today, but I think weak plots will destroy him.

As a baseball player - sportswriter, turned school teacher, the talents in his possession just won't come through. Too bad. It could have been a good one.

" RHODA "

Valerie Harper divorces herself from The Mary Tyler Moore Show, finds a boy friend, and takes off on her own.

Although an extremely talented young woman, I think Valerie Harper is going to find the sledding just a bit on the hard side - depending on what competition the other networks put in her way.

" KODIAK "

Clint Walker has taken his act from Cheyenne to the far north with a show that will never get off the launching pad, never mind the tundra!

" FRIENDS AND LOVERS "

How can anyone who plays a bass violin in the Boston Symphony, and who is a born mooch, ever hope to get on in life?

The answers to this, as given by Paul Sand, makes this show one of the "sleepers" of the year. It's funny - but, more important, it's different.

" PLANET OF THE APES "

Roddy Mc Dowall goes back a long way in the picture business and has an inborn ability to be convincing in any given situation - almost!

As Galen in this Science Fiction series, his talents are wasted and that is our loss.

" THE MANHUNTER "

Bonnie and Clyde have been dead a good number of years but their exploits are still being used as the basis for a good number of shows.

This one has Ken Howard as a run of the mill farmer who every once in a while seems to bay at the moon and gets the urge to go huntin' the bad guys.

You got a loser, folks!

" BORN FREE "

Elsa the lioness seems to steal a good portion of this show - and so she should. The plots leave very little to steal! No way will it make it.

One of Canada's best known exports recently paid a return visit to his old home town - Ottawa. The Paul Anka special on September 25th. was the result.

This guy has come so far since he first hit it big with "Diana" that words will never suffice as accolades. A remarkably polished performer, Anka made it an hour to remember.

LUCKY OLD YOU

Have you ever paused, during your daily, back-breaking labours, to consider just how lucky - how very lucky - you are to be alive? I did the other day, and after taking full cognizance of many related facts, I was forced to the conclusion that lucky is not really the word for it: it is nothing short of ridiculous. Consider the following and perhaps you will agree with me.

Doctors tell us that there are now more sick people and more sickness on this poor, beaten-up old planet than at any other time in its entire history... They forget to mention that there are more poor, beaten-up old people perambulating today than at any previous era. Is it so surprising, then, that there are more sick?

Psychiatrists acquaint us with the knowledge that there is far more mental sickness than ever before: we are more neurotic now than we have ever been. How do they know this? Are they carrying on clandestine E.S.P. sessions behind the scenes and testing the age regressed subjects for neurosis? Or do they spend much of their time dreaming up new mental disorders to spring upon the poor neurotic populace at opportune moments? What with their frontal lobotomies and bone-curling shock treatments, I wouldn't be surprised to hear that we really are neurotic.

If there is nothing physically or organically wrong with you, don't stand up and cheer yet, for you should count yourself fortunate that you are alive.

Remember the automobile manufacturer: why should he want you to hang around beyond a reasonably old age, say forty-five? He wants you off the road in order that the speed-happy youngsters can boost the traffic - fatalities figure. To provide you with a simple but effective method of departing from your mortal coil, he gives you not one horsepower.... nor two horsepower....not even three horsepower. He gives you something like three hundred horsepower, to be used on roads designed mainly for a horsepower rating of around one hundred! So why the extra two?

Well, when you hit that telephone pole, you want to break it in two nice pieces, don't you. No messy pieces sticking up all over.

And, you, in your demise, have no desire to linger, have you? If you have, then that has also been taken care of: safety belts have been provided along with padded dashboards, shatter proof glass - and engines of three hundred horsepower! By judicious use of the seat belt, you may ensure being paralysed instead of amortized, but this is merely six of one and a half dozen of the other. So much for the guileful automobile manufacturer.

Do you think that because you do not possess one of these three hundred horsepower monsters that you are safe? You are not, for you might possibly step in front of one when two hundred of the horses are working! Follow me, friend?

And how about the insurance salesman. Of course, this is a more subtle and thoughtful approach to the problem, but it is nevertheless as deadly.

From the day you commence working to raise a family, the insurance salesman is forever on your neck pointing out the value of insurance. Not for you of course! For the better half - and growing better quarters or thirds!

What use to you are thousands of dollars worth of insurance? You won't be there to collect. But think of the many pleasures in life you can leave to the little woman when you pop off! Now she can have all the things in life... all the things you thought useless and frivolous while you were alive.

Of course you could play it coy and insure your wife instead of yourself: the woman next door...or the woman at the office will have HER husband insured, so between you, you can clean up.

Now, do you think that dying is unpleasant in any way? It is not. You can have a beautiful and painless funeral if you wish. Just run along to one of those friendly morticians who advertise "Credit Burials" etc... You know the type - start paying for your burial expenses before you even think about living. That way, your wife is not called upon to dig into the insurance money. "Thoughtful you," she says as she takes delivery of the new sable coat - full length. And you gently turn into your new home and sigh.

There are many, many other proven methods that have been devised in order that you may be relieved of the burden of living - of which woman drivers.... blind corners, parole refusals and five cent admissions to high buildings are but a few. Perhaps the best classical means yet devised is liquor. Liquor producers have every other competitor 'stilled' in their tracks. And here is how this is so surreptitiously accomplished.

The price of their wares is well within the price range of everyone... Well drawn and psychologically slanted advertisements extol the virtues and quality of their products. Ah! How nice, after a hot day at the office to drop into your favorite bar for that proverbial quickie. The guile here is found in your condition at that time. You're tired, hot, exhausted and hungry. But do you hurry home to the little woman and a hot meal? No; you hurry to that little bar for that little glass of liquid refreshment.... This becomes a daily habit and, after awhile, your arteries decide to become harder than the "hooch" you've been guzzling. And when they do that, you are a gone gosling! Of course, this is a slow process by itself, but most drinkers find it necessary to drive immediately, so, really, it is not a slow process. In fact it can be real fast - unceremoniously fast.

As a closure, let me reassure those who read through this drivel and who are feeling less healthy than they were when they started - we are earning more than we ever were....we are working shorter hours for our pay, we are living better than at any time previous and - are you ready for this - we are living LONGER than ever before.

So, relax and think --- you are lucky to be alive aren't you? Lucky to be alive in such a plentiful era.. Lucky old you!

It is my intention to have a controversial question answered by some of my fellow inmates each month. I am starting off with -

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION OF MANDATORY SUPERVISION?

As a concept, it seems reasonable - as a fact of life, it is no less than absurd. But only half as absurd as the reasons expressed to men for its suspension and revocation.

If it were given at 1/3 or 1/2 of a sentence as a compulsory parole it would be a good idea. It would give men an equal opportunity for guidance.

If it was revoked only in the case of a "real" violation or a crime, the word "guidance" wouldn't be laughed at. Having a drink.. unsatisfactory behaviour (whatever that is!), late hours or quitting a job should not be considered violations punishable by incarceration.

The way it is now "giving" a man mandatory supervision at a time when in years past would be absolutely free of the penitentiary system via earned good conduct remission, is both a step backward and the removal of an incentive for good behaviour while behind bars.

Garry Bloye #4922

*****

My opinion is that it's a fact that the parole board still has its cake after eating it! The parole board is loan-sharking and getting away with it because that is the law.

I wonder what department of government next will have such an honoured status?

"Mac"

It is a complete failure. It is forced upon a person.

If a person is considered a parole prospect, he should be let out on day parole, a test case if you will, before his mandatory date. I also happen to think that this is an illegal contract because if an inmate doesn't sign it, how can he be charged with violating it?

I have enough trouble trying to keep the existing laws without having additional ones added. Give a person something worth working for and the odds are that he will succeed. All mandatory supervision means to me is the chance to reearn your good time that has all ready been earned by your good behaviour. Why should you have to earn it all over again? Why not try it on the boy scouts? It might work there!

"H" BLOCK WINS IT ALL by " Alky "

B. Shugan's "H" Squad stumbled in the first game of the playoffs - then recovered and swept by Myers' "A" team in two straight.

"H" Block brought an undefeated streak into the playoffs, and after a fairly easy season in which they seemed to thump everyone in sight, they almost seemed a snap in the finals.

Somebody forgot to tell this to "the linament kids" though and, in a real close one that "A" pulled out in the last inning, they upset "H" Block 9 to 6 on Maguire's ancient arm, and the lumber in the hands of Birmingham and Lenneville. From the fan's view it was a dandy right to the end.

"A" Block jumped on Sword in the second game and were leading 5-3 until the fourth p when the wheels fell off the old folk's chariot and a combination of walks, hits off Maguire and his relief, Van Fleet, and errors, netted "H" six runs and a lead that they never lost. "A" Battled back but just could not make it this time and went down to the tune of 16 - 13. Alkerton was a big help for H Block (he plays for A!) as he kicked the ball around with reckless abandon three times and threw it away three others! I guess old age has caught up with him (you can say that again!(Ed).)

"H" Block really didn't need that much help as Paris, Sword and Shugan really put the wood to the ball. Myers, Birmingham and McManus led "A" at the plate in a losing effort.

It would be nice to say that the series ended with a good game, but "H" jumped on Van Fleet for 10 runs in the second inning and never looked back... With Sword muffling the "A's" bats, it was a runaway 16 to 2 score.

"H" scored their big inning on six waslks and seven hits as "A" just never seemed to settle down. Big men with the bat for "H" were Sword, Shugan & Smillie.

Cooper and Birmingham let "A" at the plate but their efforts were useless as "A" just couldn't put it together.

It has been said that with the end of the ball season that the linament order is being cut in half and that all the wheelchairs have to be returned to "A" Block.

Congratulations to Shugan's Squad - Paris, Archer, Sword, Hewitt, Steadman, Smillie, Spencer, Vincent, Antaya, Doucette, Gilbert, Thibert, Anderson. Oops!, nearly forgot their coach, "Dizzy" Mayhew. They call him "Dizzy" for good reason. He kept calling for a penalty shot for high sticking - in softball!!

Also, a personal thanks to the umpires, O'Hara, Mulligan and the Hepburns (Butterball and Choppers). They did a hell of a job and deserve a whole lot of praise for their work.

Nearly forgot a very important part of the whole set up - Ray, our ever-present scorekeeper. I couldn't get the lineups and rundowns without his work. Come to think of it, I can't get it with his books - his writing is horrible

I'D LIKE TO KNOW ( the Editor )

If this institution has such a thing as a safety committee. If it does not, why not? If it does, where is it?

There are many little things that could prove hazardous to this svelte little body of mine, but one, in particular, stands out like a sore thumb.

For about the past six months we have had new basketball standards set up, and they are ideal - with but one exception. They have no counterweight! The facility is there for filling in but right now we are using two 100 lb. weights from the barbell system! How about that for class?

On two occasions I have seen these standards fall over while men were milling around on the floor. On one occasion, an inmate just jumped in time or he would have been "zonked"!

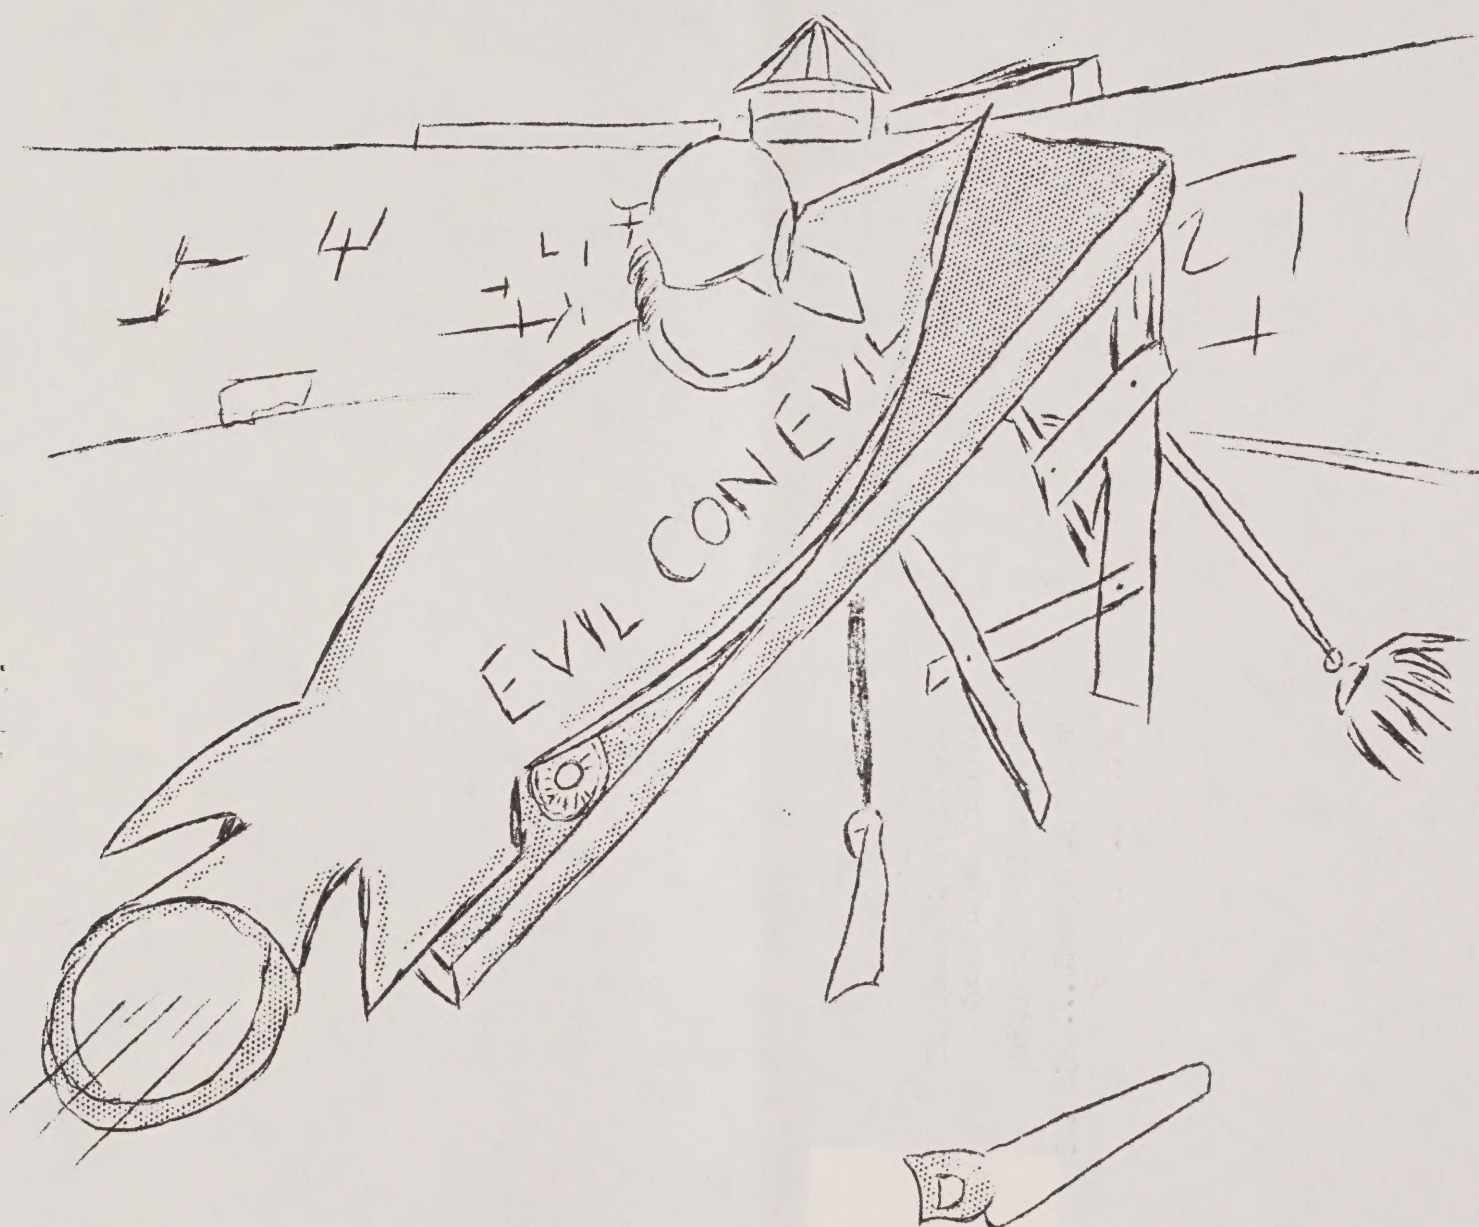

It would seem to me that with all the money we seem to be spending on things, some of which seem a little frivolous, a few bucks could be spent on something which could very easily save a life.
